word on the street

ABOVE: Street car schedule scrolls meet fan blades found at a junkyard by David from Rothschild's Antiques & Home Furnishings. "You could also arrange the blades in a graphic grid, like tic-tac-toe," says the designer. Pillow fabric, Schumacher. Rug, Dash & Albert. Schedules, Euro Trash. Frames, Larson-Juhl. Flooring, Pergo. RIGHT: Lined up on a shelf with drilled holes, vintage brushes take on iconic status. "Repetition is a great way to capture your viewer's attention," says artist Jane Wynn. ➤

Audrey's Garden
